What's Ergonomics?

Ergonomics is the study of human body at work. One of the key elements of Ergonomics is environmental - how you layout your workspace and how you interface with it. It is only recently that the results of bad ergonomics are showing up in large segments of the population as RSIs (Repetitive Stress Injuries). The possibilities of serious complications and permanent disability due to wrong ergonomics are too great to disregard.

The sea change occurring in industry as a result of the growth in Information Technology has changed the focus of Ergonomics from factories to offices. Prevention may be one of finding a comfortable and efficient posture, maintaining a healthy balance of movement at work and most importantly, choosing the right chair!

Why Ergomaxx?

Clearly, each job requires its own kind of seating. Having set the standards in creating workstations & products that meet world standards in ergonomics, Ergomaxx seating systems cater to the multifarious needs of the modern office, in an application-specific range. So that, whatever be the task, there is a Chair with healthy ergonomics, specifically designed to suit the activity. From the 'Business Lead' to the 'Managerial' to the 'Computer-intensive' tasks, there's a solution by design, in the Ergomaxx range.

Ergomaxx is a trusted name in the Indian furniture industry for over two decades, and manufactures furniture for all applications, covering open office systems, modular furniture, Auditoria, Classroom seating, workstations, chairs & tables, complying to ISO standards.
